It's a lovely hot summer's day. Ally, Joy and Xavier are off for a swim in their favourite little pool but Igno the Ignoramus has infected it with a spell of 'ignorance'. How can they return their pool to its natural beauty? What is a 'Magic Diamond' and why can't it be bought? How can You acquire one? Answers to this and other questions can be found inside the covers of 'The Magic Diamond'. Rationale: We have as many neurons (thinking cells) in our brains (the intellect) as we do in our hearts (emotional intelligence) and our guts (instinctive intelligence - martial artists call this your 'Central Power'). 'The Magic Diamond' draws readers' attention to these intelligences and uses standard academic practice of primary research and desk research to formulate their own conclusions, thus providing a blueprint for children on 'how' to evaluate and think for themselves. About the Inner Magic for Children series: "As the twig is bent, so grows the tree" Alexander Pope The 'Inner Magic For Children' series are fully illustrated, comical 'thinking stories' that help children build inner strengths and resilience in their formative years. The stories were borne from research conducted amongst children, who identified challenges they most needed help with, which responses correspond exactly with Maslow's 'Hierarchy of Needs'. All stories have a cheeky villain who represent a challenge children requested help with and a formula for overcoming it. Which is first : Love, revenge or greed ? to know the perfect answer , you have to read my story .. The Magic Diamond This is a real story that will happen in the future year 2565, while Jessica and Bob will try to steal the Magic Diamond paint and the real most expensive diamond in the world of the late famous Mostafa Sadek, but troubles will happen by Jessica's other friend Jack and Bob's friend Lily. Summer vacation has begun, and Malachi, Elizajane, Noah, and Elias are bored out of their minds. Playing pig pile doesn't help. Neither does banging one's face on the grass. What to do, what to do? The kids decide to go downtown to see what they can see. They wander past the old drugstore, where Elizajane remembers something about sodas and It's a Wonderful Life. In a heartbeat she is gone, bolting around the corner to the back of the old building, where she finds a way inside. The drugstore served some interesting characters over the years, and to everyone's surprise, one of them enters-through the locked metal front door! This old gentleman chats with the kids and tells them how there was once, long ago, a ball field right outside the back door. After drinking a second "sarsaparilla courage," the old man shows them out the back door, where an incredible surprise awaits. Not only is the old ball park still there, but some of the old ball players are chucking the horsehide around, and one of them looks like Babe Ruth? The kids are invited to join the game, but how do you play as a kid against the best players in baseball history? This exclusive photo book tells the story of the diamond, from raw stone to jewel, in an extremely attractive way. We see artistic images of barren mining districts at the North Pole, in the jungle or on tropical coastlines. Cutting edge scientific research has shown that exposure to the right kind of environment during the first years of life actually affects the physical structure of a child's brain, vastly increasing the number of neuron branches—the "magic trees of the mind"—that help us to learn, think, and remember. At each stage of development, the brain's ability to gain new skills and process information is refined. As a leading researcher at the University of California at Berkeley, Marion Diamond has been a pioneer in this field of research. Now, Diamond and award-winning science writer Janet Hopson present a comprehensive enrichment program designed to help parents prepare their children for a lifetime of learning. Twins named Liam and Casey were born with magic powers. Liam was kidnapped by a man named Bert on the day he was born. Bert longed for a magic diamond owned by the father of the twins, Alex. Alex left his wife, Emma, for twelve years to find his lost son. But when he came back without his son, his wife was with another man, Antonio, and they had a daughter, Liamina, together. Meanwhile, Liam thought the kidnapper was his real father. He had a misadventure that drove him to flee from the house of his kidnapper, believing that he had fled away from his real father. After some time alone, his mother found him accidentally. Hard for Liam to believe, he decided not to trust his real mother in order to avoid more suffering, despite his girlfriend, Anna, begging him to hear his mother's version. Luckily, Liam's stepmother, Naomie, had also fled her husband Bert with her sons, Daniel and Jim. They also explained to him that Bert was not his real father. He then decided to help his brother and his father after the confirmation that Bert had kidnapped him. The circumstances oblige him to do worse than he had ever done to save his family without knowing that he had more than just magic powers inside him. But I can track almost anything, even dead trace. That makes me a unicorn, the Tooth Fairy, the Easter Bunny, and the Loch Ness Monster all rolled into one. In a word, I am unique. A very special snowflake. And if anyone ever finds out, I'll be dead or a slave to one of the Tyet criminal factions. Riley Hollis has quietly traced kidnapped children and quietly tipped the cops to their whereabouts one too many times. Now she's on the radar of Detective Clay Price, a cop in the pocket of a powerful magic Tyet faction. When he blackmails her into doing a dangerous trace for him, Riley will have to break every rule that keeps her safe. Or become a Tyet pawn in a deadly, magical war. coloring book called “ Magic Diamonds.” Now you are probably thinking this is just another coloring book. If you are you are in for a surprise! Most all coloring books on the market today have the same thing in common. Once you color the page the activity is over and there is nothing left to do. With my book the picture on the page is colored, then it is folded up and an action area is cut out and then the picture is animated by rubbing the paper. You animate the colored page! It becomes a paper video toy and You animate the colored page! It becomes a paper video toy and You are the animators! But the fun is just beginning! The next series of pages in the book after you color them can be inflated and blown up like a balloon. Then when you look inside your paper balloon your 2 dimensional picture has magically turned into a 3 dimensional scene! That’s what is intriguing about “Magic Diamonds.” They are a simple combination of origami, coloring and animation. It’s “origami with a twist.” Kids and adults can have the fun of coloring it and then animating it into a “colorigami toy.” Who are you really? That is, how do you operate? And what is your best route to up your level in life? A century ago, the famous Swiss psychiatrist Dr. C.G. Jung described eight ways people function. Like right versus left handedness, we develop preferences-our gifts. But what's next? First, we can nurture our gifts. We can also deal with our shadowy blind-spots and chart a path that continually completes the pattern of who we are. Jung predicted how the brain works: We start largely undifferentiated and grow with biases, then conflicts and crises arise inevitably, and we can retreat from those opportunities or we can choose to reinvent ourselves. What is your choice? Based on the work of C.G. Jung's 8 Psychological Types, with over thirty pages of quotations and analysis. Starts with a brain-based introduction to 8 cognitive processes. Takes you to the next level, focusing on development. Explores the problem of one-sidedness, "tension of opposites", and the Transcendent function. For each process, features a 30-page coaching packet based on 14 years of hands-on neuroscience of 350+ people from all walks of life. Presents over 40 case studies and over 200 personalized tips for you to develop keener perception and wiser judgment. Puts personality within a social context. Includes two chapters of activities for teams and coaches. Introduces The Magic Diamond, a powerful new metaphor to chart your path to personal and professional growth. Award-winning instructor and world-renowned personality and neuroscience researcher, Dario Nardi, brings Jung's incredible work into the 21st century. His other books include Neuroscience of Personality, 8 Keys to Self-Leadership, Jung on Yoga, and 16 Personality Types. Being half fairy and half human sure makes life easy most of the time! Little does he know that another dimension, a realm of other kingdoms, waits for him, hidden in the National Forest, ready to reveal the hidden doorways of the kingdoms. As he soon begins his journey through the kingdoms, with the help of a magic diamond, he must endure hardships and conquer the evils in each kingdom, by facing various animal creatures, including dragons: some good, though some hideously evil, with magical powers of their own; merciless, and wicked. He must learn the secrets of each of the kingdoms, if he must save his own kingdom. He also encounters Princes and Princesses throughout his travels in the kingdoms. Will he ever see his kingdom, the place we call America, again? Will he save it from the evil creatures of the other kingdoms? Or will evil triumph? COLD-diggety! Mole thinks the diamond he's found is magic. It appeared from nowhere ... then it disappeared altogether! Mole is very disappointed when his friends let him in on the icy secret - that his diamond is, in fact, an icicle - until he discovers that magic can be found in all sorts of unexpected places.
