of a lady is a short story written by Ian Fleming featuring his fictional secret agent James Bond. It was included in the 1966 short story collection Octopussy and the Living Daylights from 1967 onwards. The word lady is a term for a girl or woman with various connotations, once used to describe only women of a high social class or status, the equivalent of lord. Now it may refer to any adult woman, as gentleman can be used for men. The lady of the title is a female counterpart of Prufrock in Eliot's more famous poem The Love Song of J. Alfred Prufrock. However, the poem is also about the young man who narrates it.
